TALKING MOVING PICTURES

In connection with the regular all-pictures program, which consists of "The Hazards of Helen," the great railroad series, E. H. Calvert in "The Reckoning Day" and a special Vitagraph comedy—the Pastime presents today a reel of talking pictures. It has been some time since the talking pictures have been presented here and no doubt they will prove very entertaining. Dainty Marguerite Brown will by special request repeat her song of last night, entitled "Mother". This song is the universal hit of the day. A vaudeville and picture program combined. Positively no advance in the admission.

LEADERS PREDICT VICTORY FOR HUGHES

found their seats again, and then the Rev. John T. M. Sloane, of Chicago, read a prayer. The big audience remained seated at his request.

Secretary Reynolds then read the call for the convention which was published last December. It was only a formality. None of the delegates wanted to hear it so they talked and moved about while Mr. Reynolds kept on. That over, Chairman Hilts presented Senator Harding, of Ohio, as temporary chairman and put the question. A rallying chorus of "ayes" swept the hall and former senator Crane, Senator Borah, of Idaho and former representative W. B. McKinley were appointed a committee to escort Mr. Harding to the platform. The Idaho delegation announced that Senator Borah was unavoidably absent. Senator Crane and Mr. McKinley marched up with Mr. Harding. His appointment was the signal for the first genuine burst of applause, but it was brief and he plunged into his prepared speech, appealing for harmony, counselling the delegates that it was not a time for "recrimination but a day of reconsecration." He spoke more than an hour, referring seldom to his manuscript and interrupted frequently by applause and cheers as he scored the Democratic administration for inefficiency, incapacity and extravagance, and declared the Republican party's allegiance to protective tariff and national defense. He closed with a peroration on Americanism and Republicanism, which was marked with applause lasting less than a minute. The delegates rose to their feet, some cheered, some hats were thrown in the air and there was some waving of handkerchiefs, but they settled down quickly and the temporary chairman recognized in rapid succession speakers from the floor who offered the customary resolutions for perfecting the temporary organization.

This was quickly over with, the meeting places of the committee were announced and at 1:25 o'clock the convention was declared adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

The delegates piled out into the driving rain where they found 1,000 automobiles furnished by Mayor Thompson's reception committee waiting for them. The committeemen assembled in hotels and the resolutions committee returned later to the Coliseum to give a public hearing to anyone who wanted to suggest planks in the platform. The first day's work was over quickly and comparatively quietly with everyone talking about the placed, matter of fact things, had started off.
